

ICF Credentialing

A globally recognised qualification

The International Coach Federation (ICF) is the largest global association of coaches with over 14,000 members. The ICF has been a leader in establishing both ethical standards and coaching competencies worldwide.

Results is proud to be one of the few coaching schools worldwide that offer an Accredited Coach Training Programme (ACTP) from the ICF.

Completing our courses provides you not only with the opportunity to gain a globally recognised Results Certificate in Coaching, but also helps you meet requirements for your own credential from the ICF.

The Results ICF Credential Pathway meets the coach training requirements for both the Associate Certified Coach (ACC) and Professional Certified Coach (PCC) credentials with the ICF.

You will need to document your own coaching experience separately.

Your training consists of two elements:

- live training hours, either face to face workshops or teleclasses
- additional self-study hours between training sessions

The live training, self study and coaching hours requirements for ICF are as follows:

Associate Certified Coach (ACC)

A total of 60 hours of coach specific training (12 hours of which can be self-study hours) and 100 hours of coaching experience.

Professional Certified Coach (PCC)

A total of 125 hours of coach specific training (25 of which can be self-study hours) and 750 hours of coaching experience.

Please see the ICF website at www.coachfederation.org for a complete list of all requirements.
